Mervyn Goh and Alan Soo

Mervyn Goh's passion for the ukulele began several years back. Since then, he has attended and hosted ukulele sessions, festivals and even fund raisers. He has also jammed with Kalei Gamio, Daniel Ho and James Hill. Since 2007, Alan Soo has been an active performer of the ukulele both locally and internationally. He has also been teaching for more than 10 years. Alan is a KoAloha Supported Artist.

Ukulele may look like a 4-stringed mini guitar, but this tiny humble instrument is capable of spreading love and sharing happiness across generations. Playing the ukulele has been known to improve tonality and hand-eye coordination. Let Mervyn Goh and fellow ukulele enthusiast Alan Soo teach you the basics of playing the ukulele, from tuning it, to basic chords, to learning simple strumming patterns, to playing simple songs. So sing or strum alongside these happy souls, because when you play the ukulele, every occasion is a happy occasion.
