

Are you a mid-careerist in Technical Theatre & Production?

1

I've been a Sound Technician for close to a decade, and would like to take my career further. What information is available for me?

EXPLORE

A Career in the Arts

INFORMATION ON ARTS WORKFORCE

RANGE OF AVAILABLE WORK

KEY TRENDS TO LOOK OUT FOR

DISCOVER

Production Design

DISCOVER

Technical and Specialist Services

DISCOVER

Arts Education

Find out more about work in these fields.

Then, narrow down job roles you would like to explore based on interest or skills you already have.

2

I would like to stay in the Technical Theatre & Production sector, but I am keen to explore a role in the Production Track. What are some options?

EXPLORE

Technical and Specialist Services

Learn about industry trends, desired attributes, and different career tracks.

CLICK TO READ MORE

DOWNLOAD

Guide to Occupations and Skills

Elaborates on job roles available under the Production Track.

CLICK TO DOWNLOAD

REVIEW

Job Prospectus for Technical and Specialist Roles

Learn more about the responsibilities of the job, and the key skills required.

CLICK TO READ MORE

UNDERSTAND

Being an SEP in the Arts

Those working in Technical and Specialist roles typically work as Self-Employed Persons (SEPs).

What is it like to work as an arts SEP? What are the additional skills needed to build a sustainable career?

CLICK TO READ MORE

You should compare the Technical Skills and Competencies needed for the desired job with your current skills profile, to see if there are similar or overlapping skills and where you need to upskill.

3

I'm interested to switch to Stage Management. However, I need some training. Where can I go for information and what support do I have?

DISCOVER

Training Opportunities & Workplace-based Learning

Explore opportunities that allow you to apply skills to the relevant operating context and develop yourself.

CLICK TO READ MORE

NAC offers support for capability development.

Visit NAC's Arts Resource Hub for additional support and resources tailored to SEPs.

